The theft was reported by Whitfield to the police when his wife came out of church and found only three tires on her car. The lads were picked up on the Coast between Long Beach and Gulf port by State Highway Patrolmen Blackwell and Curet. They were brought to Bay St. Louis where they were confronted by Whitfield and the city police.

Informed by Whitfield that he would ask the mercy of the court if they decided that their prank which was a first offense for both boys.

FORESTRY NOTES
By MARION PARKER Area Forester

Information recently received by Area Forester M. T. Parker on seedlings planted by landowners in 1955 in Hancock County was the average seedling survival for 85 per cent. The average for all owners in Mississippi in 1955 was seedling species planted by land, 77 per cent.

Area Forester Parker stated that the above seedling survival figures were for the seedlings supplied to landowners in Mississippi from the Mississippi Forestry Commission's Nurseries at Winona and Mt. Olive, Mississippi. Many of these seedlings were planted in abandoned fields in order to put these fields to producing a future money crop. Some of these seedlings were planted in gullies to prevent excessive water run-off and soil erosion. Other seedlings were planted in stands of timber which did not contain enough trees per acre for maximum production while many other seedlings were planted on areas where the seed trees left from previous cutting operations had failed to restock these areas. Finally, some of these seedlings were planted in areas containing poor, low quality, undesirable hardwoods where the undesirable hardwoods were deadened before or after the seedlings were planted.

Information on where and how to plant your seedlings can be obtained by contacting Area Forester Parker at Bay St. Louis.

Is Showplace Of Gulf Coast

More than thirty years ago a young intern at the famous Charity Hospital in New Orleans, La., spent his leisure time sitting behind the century-old massive iron gates of that institution and dreamed thoughts of possession of the magnificent wrought iron guards of that edifice.

As he watched the passing parade of humanity and thought of the many who had passed through the gates, the rich and the poor, those who would return and those who would not, the professors and students who trod the paths between the medical school, and the great institution where much of the practical medical training was given, his dreams enlarged.

He envisioned then a great estate, famous for its beauty and tradition that would be guarded by the gates, which had become a symbol to him.

The young intern was Dr. Emmett Lee Irwin, to-day square of the nationally known and renowned estate "Darwood-on-the-Jourdan."

Dr. Irwin related a bit of his background which eventually led to the realization of his dreams of such a home which he now owns on the Jourdan River about ten miles from Bay St. Louis.

He tells of his father, a practicing country doctor who was born in Clinton, La., on the morning that town was captured by the Union forces.

A young mother lay in the bed shielding a newborn infant of but a few hours when a Union captain entered the room demanding to know what was being hidden under the covers. This army officer knew all the tricks of concealment.

Indignantly the young mother threw back the coverlet and proclaimed "I have General Lee."

Properly abashed when he saw the young infant, the captain bowed his head and said softly "Madam, I apologize. I have left one of my own at home."

He then withdrew his men from the property without further search.

This began the life of Dr. Emmett Lee Irwin Sr. His mother named her son for two great Roberts—Sir Robert Emmett, the great Irish patriot, and Robert Edward Lee, the adored general of all Southerners.

The boy grew to manhood and became one of the best loved citizens of his community, serving his fellowmen as a practicing physician. He lived his entire life in Clinton, where he married Sarah Darling Kernan, and together they reared a family of five children.

One of these children is the Emmett Lee Irwin of this story. He attended Louisiana State University and was graduated from Tulane Medical School. He interned in Charity Hospital and admired the gates, and in 1924 when these were replaced he negotiated for their purchase and his dream of possession became a reality.

The gates were moved to the Irwin home, and he told his mother then, "One of these days I'll have a garden, and these gates will be the entrance."

Fifteen years later he started the garden. During those years he accumulated other treasures for both garden and home to be—a beautiful iron knocker he found in Havana in 1926, antiques to furnish the house, a pair of hand-painted porcelain, a collection of Professor Ellsworth Woodward's paintings, Shells from Chateau Thierry and Verdun, where the served as a Major in World War I, a two hundred year old French piano, and a water jug from the old Santa Clara Mission Convent in Cuba.

And in his living room hangs a portrait of his mother painted by Mrs. Jean Sully Smythe, great-niece of Sully who did the famous full length portrait of Washington which hangs in Constitution Hall.

Dr. Irwin acquired the site of his present home in 1939. It was then a wilderness. In 1940 the gates were installed and the garden begun, the house was built and the door knocker placed on the front door, and "Darwood on the Jourdan" came to the fulfillment of a young man's dream.

The name of Darwood was taken from the first three letters of this mother's name, Dorling, and the wood attached. It stands today a seven hundred acre estate, with superintendent house, guest house, 3 lily ponds and 135 acres of pasture land.

The gardens were first opened to the public in 1952. Today the century old gates are an entrance to the 15 room "L" shaped home, the 137 native trees and shrubs, and more than 500 varieties of camellias and the hundreds of azaleas and other flowers.

The newest fountain on the grounds is a duplicate of the Mercury statue at Oxford, England. Beside the pool facing the house a flagpole floats Old Glory over the flag of the Confederacy and Darwood's own flag in the soft southern breeze. The Rough House stands in a shaded glade and is notable for the wonderful

AGENTS' NOTES
BY HOWARD S. SCHMIDT
Hancock County Agent

Fire Ant Control

During the winter is a good time to poison and impound ant mounds. The grass is usually dead and short, and the mounds are easier to find, and the ants are more sluggish and more likely to be in the mound.

The mounds built by the ants can damage farm machinery, especially mowers. The ants can seriously damage truck crops and home gardens. Their stings are very painful.

It only costs two or three cents to treat an ant mound. Dusts or sprays can be used. In sandy soils, spray is more effective; on heavy black land soils, dusts do the better job.

Materials to use are chlordane, adrin or dieldrin. These can be dusts, wettable powders or emulsified concentrates. See your county agent for specific instructions on use of these materials.

Caution. These materials are poisonous. Livestock should not be allowed to graze the treated area for at least two weeks after treatment. Handle carefully and handle according to printed instructions.

Pecan Tree Planting

If you are planning to set out pecan trees—just a few or an orchard—check first to make sure that you are getting an adapted variety.

It is generally better to buy trees from a nursery than to grow your own. Trees with one-year-old tops are recommended as they stand transplanting better than older trees, require less care and are more economical.

Get trees of 4 to 5 foot and 5 to 6 foot varieties.

Make your planting holes deep and large enough to set the trees an inch or two deeper than they grew in the nursery. Do not crowd or bend the roots.

Do not put any fertilizer or fresh manure close to the roots. In digging holes, keep the topsoil separate from the subsoil. Use the top soil to fill in around the roots. Well-rotted manure compost or leaf mold may be mixed with stiff soils to loosen it before it is put back in the hole.

Pack the soil well as the hole is filled. If the soil is dry, add water in the soil.

Never let roots of nursery trees dry out before or during planting. Pecan trees can be planted anytime during December, January and February.

Timber Stand Improvement

During the slack farming season is a good time to do a little cultivating of your timber stands.

Cutting down or girdling and poisoning cull hardwoods in pine stands will greatly improve the value of the pine stands. It will make for faster growth or the more desirable species.

Cutting down and saving up these cull trees, including some of the oaks and hickories, can also bring in an additional farm income. Modern home building is offering a market for these woods to be used in open fire places.

If the culls are to be sold as fire woods, the trees should be sawed into 16 to 24 inch lengths and should be four to eight inches in diameter.

parties given by the host of Darwood. Here the appointments are all rustic and massive white oak timber hand adzed by Dr. Irwin himself forms the mantle of the great fireplace.

In addition to the formal gardens of Darwood, which slope down the bluff to the Jourdan River, there are miles of enchanting woodland trails and lanes where nature runs riot. Virginia trees grow to great heights, and colorful azalea and camellias bloom beneath hundreds of dogwood and holly trees.

There is a history and sentiment attached to all the appointments in the house. Each piece of furniture and bric-a-brac has a history.

And always this renowned surgeon and physician, this gracious and cultured Southern gentleman, is striving to seek more ways to add beauty for more people to enjoy what is already paradise.

 Although the St. Stanislaus Rockchaws showed great fight and immovability in their first basketball game of the season against Dedeaux Tuesday night, December 5, they were unable to defeat this fine team and lost to them 52-39. Sparked by Billy Gowland and Willys Rhodes, the Rocks took the lead early in the first quarter. They stayed wide awake, dropping in basket after basket. When the gang rang marking the end of the first quarter, the scoreboard read: Stanislaus 9, Dedeaux 4. In the second quarter, Dedeaux began to wake up. Stanislaus, however, slowed their offense down considerably, and scored 9 points to Dedeaux's 10. At the close of the second stanza, Stanislaus was still on top, 18-14. However, when the second half began, Dedeaux went wild. They scored one basket after another, making the Rock defense dizzy. The Rocks were unable to hold their slim lead, and scored only six points in the 3rd quarter. At the 3rd bell, the score was 29-24. In the last quarter of play Dedeaux, led by center P. Ladner and W. J. Cameron, made goals right and left, but the Rocks kept right behind them. In this quarter Stanislaus made 14 points and Dedeaux made 23. And so, at the end of the game, the Rocks trailed 52-39. The Junior team game followed, which the Rockchaws also lost to Dedeaux. The entire team led by Tony Mathes played a great game, but it seems Dedeaux was too much for them. It was a close game, but Dedeaux came out ahead by a score of 32-24.

 By Toddy Stochmann Jr.
 The St. Stanislaus Rockchaws lost their 3rd game of the season to Moss Point by a small margin of 58-54 at the Rock gymnasium here Saturday night, Dec. 12. The Rockchaws, led by Billy Rhodes and Wilfred Gowland, took the offensive early in the 1st quarter. They scored often, and kept the Moss Point defense guessing. They played hard and led by four points at the end of the 1st quarter. However, in the second quarter, the Tigers, led by Khayat, played fine ball, and finally worked up to a 33-31 lead by halftime. All through the second half the Rocks made dazzling shots, desperately trying to stay ahead of the Tigers. They held a slim margin over Moss Point until the last quarter, when little number 12, Webb, scored to bring the tigers into the lead once more. The Rocks, tried desperately but they could not break this slim lead. The end came when Rogers made two foul shots in the final seconds of play, to give the Tigers a 4-point lead. Billy Rhodes tried one more full-count shot, but the ball hit the goal and bounced clear, just as the whistle blew, ending the game. Final score: Moss Point 58, SSC 54.

POSTAL SERVICE OFFERS DESIRABLE CAREERS

The first nationwide effort to attract desirable new career employees into the postal service was launched Dec. 5. Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced this week.

Red, white and blue posters outlining higher salaries now offered and other benefits of postal employees will be displayed for 30 days, in the lobbies of approximately 10,000 of the largest post offices and in 3,000 communities on 16,000 Air Force recruiting bill boards.

Under the heading "Plan a Career in Uncle Sam's Post Office, Good Pay, Advancement, Many Benefits," the posters list these facts about postal employment:

1. Starting Pay of $70 per Week—$1.82 per Hour.
2. Automatic Annual Raises to $85 per week—$2.19 per Hour.
3. Longevity Increases to $90 per week—$2.34 per Hour.
4. 2 1/2 to 5 weeks Paid Vacation Each Year.
5. Liberal Paid Sick Leave.
6. 8 paid Holidays Each Year.
7. Generous Retirement Plan.

The posters also emphasize that low cost life insurance, allowances for uniforms, and 10 per cent higher pay for night work are available.

Mr. Summerfield pointed out that the postal service is now more attractive than ever for the young person seeking a career. The second step of the salary increases enacted into law earlier this year became effective Saturday Dec. 3, for approximately half a million field service positions in the Post Office Department, providing the highest wage rates in history for postal employees.

He added that, although present vacancies do not exist in all post offices, he hopes that the advantages of a postal career will attract alert young Americans to file for Civil Service examinations for postal positions as they are announced. Information about examinations may be obtained at local post offices.

At the same time, the Postmaster General emphasized that the present drive for new personnel is part of a long-range program aimed at improving the career service of the Post Office Department and the mail service to the American people.

This is not intended to be a short-term, temporary recruiting effort, he explained. Neither does it conflict with reductions in staff that might be necessary from time to time among temporary and part-time employees to meet specialized local conditions that might arise.

The hunting party, which was given on the 155 thousand acre hunting lodge owned by Baykins included three Mississippians, Walter Gex Jr. of Bay St. Louis, Congressman Wm. Colmer from Pascagoula, and Federal Judge Sidney Mize of Jackson. Other guests included former Governor Thompson of Florida and Robert Sykes, Congressman from Florida. VALENA C. JONES HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The Colored High School has enjoyed the atmosphere of a splendid school session during this first semester. All teachers and home room groups are co-ordinating their effort with one main objective—a better school for all the children.

Our present enrollment is 329 students and 11 teachers, compared to 209 students and 7 teachers two years ago.

The school is fully accredited by the Mississippi Accrediting Commission for four years of high school work.

Mainly as a result of a revised curriculum, guidance and visitation by college personnel from some of the leading colleges in the state, the school is honored to have eight members of the senior class of 1955 attending some of the leading Colleges in the South.

Maine Robinson and Carolyn M. Patterson are in Jackson College, Bertha B. Frederick, Clara Mae Gardner, Joseph Malone and John Thomas Newkirk Jr. are attending Alcorn College, Vivian Curry is attending Tougaloo College, and Emma L. Smith is attending Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Ala.

Total enrollment of the class was 13 members, 11 girls and 2 boys.

Director of Public Relations W. O. Robinson of Jackson College has very recently informed the principal and faculty members that Carolyn M. Patterson ranked 17th in the upper 29 students of a total of 381 in the freshman class entrance test to individual students, last September. The faculty and student body wish her and all the rest much success during their college life.

C. D. Bailey, State Representative of the American Legion, has announced that the American Legion Auxiliary would "kick off" the March of Dimes campaign in Mississippi on January 3.

Commander Guiley and Mrs. A. A. Bush, President of the Auxiliary, have asked each local post and unit in the state to start the march with a one day Blue Crutch Sale on Jan. 3.

A small plastic Blue Crutch will be given to each person who donates to the March of Dimes on that day.

Legionnaires and their ladies will be out in full force all over the state Jan. 3 to do their bit in the fight against polio.

"This will be nothing new to the Legion and its Auxiliary," Guiley stated, "for we are a service organization and I can think of no finer service that we can render than to see to it that the March of Dimes gets off to a good start in January."

Mrs. Bush said, "We of the Auxiliary are especially pleased to have a part in the March of Dimes because we fully realize that polio is not licked yet and that it will take a lot of money to care for those persons who have already been stricken and to help those who will be stricken."

County campaign chairmen for the Polio Foundation will be meeting with local Legion and Auxiliary leaders during the next few days to complete plans for supplying Blue Crutches to them for the kickoff day.

MEC VOICES OPPOSITION TO GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS

The Mississippi Economic Council, representing a wide cross-section of the state's business and civic interests, today voiced its opposition to the "federal government's ownership and operation of any business-type enterprise in competition with privately owned enterprise."

Gerard H. Brandon, Natchez attorney and MEC president, said the Council's position with reference to government in business came as a result of a report from the national affairs committee headed by Conwell Sykes, Greenville.

The Council resolution calls for immediate development of the best possible plan to transfer federal enterprises to private enterprise.
